Monday Club.

One of the important and interesting meetings of the club was held last Monday when the members of the Literature Section and their friends were addressed by Dr. Agnes McKee Wallace and Dr. Yount on "Health Needs in the School." The topics discussed by them both included the sanitation of buildings, proper ventilation, time of study, contagion, infections, diseases and medical inspection.

The Art Section will present a most interesting program tomorrow. Mrs. J. G. Kirkpatrick, Mrs. D. Levy, Mrs. L. A. Kehr, Mrs. Nathan Levy, and Mrs. J. W. Milnes entertained on Wednesday, at a very successful tea at the pretty new Club house. The assembly room of the club was decorated with a profusion of American Beauty roses and chrysanthemums, and the tea tables were covered with cloths of Handkerchief embroidery. Tea and cake were served and a delightful program of vocal and instrumental music was given by Mrs. Cline, Mrs. Kirkpatrick, Mrs. Kessler and Miss Marjorie Flynn. As a favor each guest received a large white chrysanthemum. Over seventy guests were served.

VITUPERATION IS DEMOCRATIC KEYNOTE

(From Sunday's Daily.)

Last night's democratic rally was a source of disappointment to even the most ardent democrats. The free moving pictures attracted a large crowd and when the curtain rose with the stage filled to overflowing with democratic candidates the house was most generous in its applause.

Reese M. Ling, of Prescott, presided and his introductions were both brilliant and witty. In introducing Mark Smith, the first speaker, Ling told the story of the Garden of Eden and showed that the real reason Adam fell from grace was due to his democratic tendencies and that he refused to be a protectionist. Ling further stated that all the candidates on the platform were good democrats and were not in favor of protection.

Mark A. Smith

Mark A. Smith, democratic candidate for the United States senate, was the first speaker. Smith seems to be failing in health and last night his voice was often so faint that he could not be heard in the back of the house. He admitted that the trials of the campaign were telling upon him and that his condition was far from good. After his speech he immediately left the stage. He embarked upon a tirade against the republican party saying that that party had cost the United States more than the civil war, evidently forgetting that many of the best citizens in the country today mourn the loss of loved ones who paid for that defense of their country with their blood and that nothing in the history of this republic has ever cost or ever can cost the terrible toll of the rebellion.

He explained the tariff from his point of view and said that the only reason the American workingman was better off than the foreigner was due to his greater ability and the fact that we are not so crowded as abroad. He failed to state where free trade would keep the native laborer from being crowded out by foreign labor. He asked for the votes of the audience on the ground that he had prevented the passage of the New Mexico-Arizona joint statehood bill.

The band played "Dixie" as Smith took his seat. After this piece the band retired having failed to find any of the patriotic songs referring to the flags under which the candidates were seated, in its repertoire.

G. W. P. Hunt.

Hunt was introduced as the man who had written his heart into the constitution and immediately started to lament the fact that most of the miners around Globe sent their money away and this was probably due to republican administration. He defended the recall of everything and everybody and said that he ran his business on the recall plan. He started as a delivery boy with this concern twenty-five years ago and was now its president but failed to state whether or not the recall was in effect while he was climbing the ladder.

Carl Hayden

Ling introduced Carl Hayden as a man who was to be recommended because he had been throwing stones at republicans ever since Ling had made his first visit to Tempe, twenty-five years ago.

Hayden made the best speech of the evening and vigorously attacked everything republican and defended everything democratic. He pledged himself for the recall of all officials including the federal judiciary.

Sidney Osborn

The speaker said that it was necessary to have a few young men on the ticket and suggested that Sid Osborn was young enough to suit anybody. Whereupon the youthful candidate for the office of secretary of state rose to his feet and addressed the audience as "folks," which put everyone in a nice sociable frame of mind and they applauded vigorously when Sid said he was the father of the judiciary recall in the Arizona constitution and wanted to be elected awfully bad. He told a tale which won him the sympathy of the entire house when he described how he had been balked out of a chance to make a speech at Jerome last night by members of his own party. However, last night he arranged that he be placed fourth on the program and had the satisfaction of addressing an audience which was steadily dwindling.

C. O. Case.

The prospective superintendent of public instruction on the democratic ticket gave as one of his best references the fact that he built a camp fire in Arizona twenty-two years ago and that he had at that time partaken of the wonder working waters of the fabled Hassayampa. After this explanation the audience settled down to listen good naturedly to anything he might chance to say. Case does not look an educator and his language did not relieve the impression.

George Purdy Bullard

Ling introduced the next speaker as a man who had no enemies in Maricopa county owing to the fact that since he had been county attorney he had sent them all to jail. Aside from this kindly trait he was a first class, double-dyed, blown in the bottle automobile crank. Bullard was enthusiastically received and made many friends by paying a fitting tribute to the Mile High county which he called the home of the good roads movement. Bullard's voice was out of order and he apologized, saying that he came from a county where no one wants to go to Heaven in the winter time and no one fears to go to Hell in the summer time. In addition to this story he told a shady tale regarding a monkey appendix and also vigorously attacked everything republican including the president and the party platform saying that labor men had told him that they did not want a compulsory arbitration board. Regardless of the fact that he had apologized for his voice Bullard did remarkably well and could be plainly heard as far as the Congress hotel. He wound up his speech by a story of the south where by appointing a negro foreman of a jury and thereby depriving him of his vote the verdict returned by the darkey was, "The jury am gone democratic."

David Johnson

Johnson, candidate for the office of state treasurer was the next speaker. Owing to the number of people who were passing out it was hard to hear what the speaker said but it was something about a dear this or that.

F. A. Jones

Jones, who is a candidate for corporation commissioner told what the republican party had not done and what he would do. In the course of his speech he told a joke about a frog who was a railroad frog but who nevertheless croaked. Jones read some other interesting data from a card and then gave way to Paul Geary.

Paul Geary

Geary is county attorney for Navajo and is to be the lawyer for the corporation commission. His remarks were brief and therefore pleasant.

Henry Ashurst

Ashurst's speech was ill-timed, ill-mannered and ill-tempered, and for half an hour he devoted himself to a denunciation of everyone from President Taft down to the Journal-Miner. He failed to explain why he voted against the Cowan bill and for the railroad police bill when he was a member of the legislature. That the speaker's abusive remarks cost him many votes was the general opinion after the meeting closed, it being plainly apparent that he is not a fit man to uphold the dignity of the new state of Arizona in the United States senate.

WILL LOCATE

(From Tuesday's Daily.)

Redmond Bushnell, graduate of the Columbia School of Mines, of New York city, arrived in the city yesterday after making a trip of examination through the Bradshaw mountains and other districts south of this city. He will leave this week for Copper Basin district, and before returning east will visit the Jerome and McCabe sections. He is favorably impressed with the mineral outlook of this county, and will return later to locate and become identified with mining development. He spent several weeks in Colorado and in southern Arizona, but entertains emphatic and pronounced views of the field adjacent to Prescott.

CONFERRING ON LAWS

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 18. — The president will not begin writing his message to congress today as was intended because of a bad cold. Probably he will begin early next week. He held a conference with Secretary of War Stimson and Attorney General Wickersham relative to rates through the Panama canal and one anti-trust legislation.

ASYLUM SUPT. RESIGNS

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Nov. 18. — The resignation of E. Scott Blair, the superintendent of the asylum at Patton was received by the governor today. No successor has as yet been named.

TAKES A SHOT AT PRESCOTT WATER SUCCESSFUL RIVAL PROBLEM IS SOLVED

(From Sunday's Daily.)

Andres Granada, of Seligman, created considerable excitement Friday forenoon, when armed with a 30-30 Winchester rifle, he fired four shots in rapid succession at Jose Chavez, and missed his victim each time. While his shots went wild of the mark, several others had narrow escapes, however. The affair came up over the affections of a senorita, it is said, in which the shooter had the worst of the rivalry, and attempted to win out by the desperate method of killing the successful wooer.

Granada was taken immediately before the justice of the peace and given a hearing. In one hour afterward he was aboard the train and was brought to Prescott yesterday by Deputy Sheriff Frank Burnell in default of $1000 bond to appear before the next grand jury. This officer made the arrest assisted by his sawed off shotgun, pulling down on Granada as he was attempting to fire for the fifth time.

VESTAL VISITS MOOSE LODGE

The local lodge of the Loyal Order of Moose was paid a visit Sunday evening by Supreme Instructor Albert Vestal, from the Supreme Lodge at Anderson, Ind., during his visit he made a speech that was worth going miles to hear. During his remarks he explained Moosehood to the Ladies' Auxiliary and to the members of the Moose and the good that the fraternity was doing throughout the country, in building a school for the children of needy Moose where they could obtain an education free of charge. He also stated that there were 819 lodges with a membership of 250,000 throughout the world, besides the Ladies' Auxiliaries, of which Prescott has the honor of being the first Ladies' Auxiliary west of the Mississippi river.

Supreme Instructor Vestal was elected an honorary member of Purity Lodge No. 1, Ladies' Auxiliary, Prescott Lodge No. 319, Loyal Order of Moose. He was obligated in the order, after which a supper was served by the ladies.

Supreme Instructor Vestal left yesterday morning en route to his home in Indiana, after enjoying a delightful evening with the local lodge.

GRAPE VINE PIPE LINE SOLD TO COMMERCIAL

(From Thursday's Daily.)

Under a decree of the district court and an order of sale, Sheriff J. W. Smith yesterday sold the Grapevine Pipe Line formerly owned by the Geo. A. Treadwell Mining company to the Commercial Mining company, for the sum of $1000. The line runs from Grapevine Springs to the town of Mayer, and is six miles in length, and is a valuable property, supplying water from living springs. The Commercial interests secured a judgment against the Treadwell company at the present term of court for over $80,000.

PLACER MINING DEAL

(From Sunday's Daily.)

By a deed filed for record yesterday from C. H. Akers, H. A. Tritle, R. B. Burmister, Charles and Alma Batre, all of Phoenix, a group of seven placer mines in Castle Creek district, located in Yavapai and Maricopa counties, has been sold to the Maricopa Development Co., the consideration being nominal.

COMING EVENT

(From Tuesday's Daily.)

Cards announcing the wedding of Elmer Heslet and Miss Irene Franklin, have been received by many in this city, the event is to take place in Los Angeles on December 6. The prospective groom was formerly a resident of this city, employed in the freight department of the S. F. & P. railway, and is a worthy young man with many friends to wish him happiness and prosperity. The bride to be is a resident of the above coast city and is a prominent young society woman.

FILLED THE GAP

(From Tuesday's daily.)

The democratic county central committee has selected E. A. McSwiggen of this city, for the office of county superintendent of schools, in place of G. H. McNish, of New York, who resigned, filing the appointment yesterday before C. A. Peter, Jr., clerk of the board of supervisors.

As the upshot of the meeting of the Water Users' association, held at the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce last night, it was determined that the well developed at the corner of Alarcon and Carleton streets had sufficiently demonstrated its value to warrant further development.

It was therefore determined, upon motion of Robert E. Morrison, that the Water Users' association agree to sink a shaft at the location of the present drill hole at the intersection of the streets afore-named; that the said association proceed by subscription among citizens interested, to raise the sum of $1600, the said sum considered necessary by Mr. Armitage for this further test; that the same to be under the superintendence of Mr. Armitage; provided, that President Flinn of the association appoint a committee of three to wait upon the city council and insure their guarantee that if a sufficient water supply is demonstrated to exist the association be reimbursed, including reasonable expenses.

Dr. Flinn called the meeting to order, after which Mr. Morrison outlined the status of the water situation as affecting the property holders of the city of Prescott. He enumerated the charges which the owners of property are now compelled to meet and added that it is reported that the Santa Fe intends shortly to install its own water supply thereby curtailing the income to the city from this source.

Mr. Armitage recited at length the progress leading up to the present situation at the well, adding that no further test could be made under present conditions, except by means of a sufficiently large excavation to obviate the difficulty already experienced by the encountering of boulders and other obstructions.

If a sufficient supply can be developed by these means, Mr. Armitage concluded, Prescott will be enabled, within twenty years, to retire existing bonds besides paying the interest involved.

Secretary Kent reported that $211 had been paid, out of a total amount subscribed of $235. The cost of the well to date totals $340.25, leaving a debit approximately of $100 yet to be subscribed. The meeting undertook to collect this amount considerable enthusiasm prevailing.

The Prescott Water Users' association will meet again November 27, at the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

UNITED VERDE IS BUYING VALLEY LANDS

(From Thursday's Daily.)

The United Verde Copper company has purchased the John and Fidler J. Morris and the A. J. Humbert farming lands in Upper Verde valley, the consideration was not given publicity in the deeds filed for record yesterday. About 240 acres are taken over, which with previous sales closed in that section makes the total acreage over 2000, acquired by this company in the past week. All lands are highly cultivated and are considered the most desirable in the valley for farming purposes. Other deals are said to be pending.

BIG MACHINE ARRIVES

(From Tuesday's Daily.)

Geo. C. Ruffner received word from Indianapolis, Ind., a word of road grading machine, which is the heaviest and most up to date of any like appliance ever seen in this city. Six mules are required to propel it in ordinary grading work, and it is very substantially constructed. It has been secured by Contractor Trenberth and will be taken to the Senator Hill country today to work on the territorial highway.

EDITOR CHARGED WITH MURDER

DOBSON, N. C., Nov. 20.—Thomas W. Kallam, charged with the murder of H. G. Whitaker, is to be tried at the November term of the Surry County court which convened here today. The killing occurred on the main street in Pilot Mountain on October 12 last. Both men were prominent residents of Pilot Mountain. Whitaker was an attorney, while Kallam is an attorney and also editor of the local newspaper. IM feeling is said to have existed between the two men for some time previous to the tragedy. It is understood that Kallam will make a plea of self-defense, declaring that he shot Whitaker only after the latter had threatened him with a knife.

IS PROGRESSIVE START TO FINISH

The republicans in Arizona, conscious that the people of Arizona are resolutely progressive, do not intend that the democrats, who have the prestige of having framed the constitution, shall be able to charge them with any taint of reaction.

They have put forth a platform that is progressive from preamble to concluding word and would supplement and complete the direct primary system by establishing a presidential preference primary. They advocate the election of delegates to national conventions by popular vote with direct instructions from the people, expressed at the polls by members of the several parties, declaring the popular choice for presidential and vice-presidential nominees.

There can be no doubt that Arizona will adopt that reform. California will establish it beyond all question when the legislature meets in special session. It is wholly safe to predict that the national conventions to be held next year will be the last under the old system. In 1916 the conventions of the several parties will be composed of delegates chosen and instructed by the direct vote of the people.—Los Angeles Tribune.

RICH SILVER ORE

(From Sunday's Daily.)

Theodore Melzer arrived from his camp yesterday, on Lower Turkey Creek with several samples of a rich silver streak which he cut into early this week, which shows values of 439 ounces to the ton. He has extracted 287 pounds and returns tomorrow with supplies to develop to depth. The ore is a chloride and has the same mineral characteristics as that of the old Peek mine. He states that many prospectors are in that section hunting for silver locations, being attracted by the good name the district acquired in pioneer days.

REPUBLICANS WINNING VOTE

(From Sunday's Daily.)

News comes that the Republican county candidates are meeting with great receptions in their tour through the southern part of the county. Every miner and rancher has been personally interviewed and with few exceptions all appreciate the fact that the Republican ticket presents the best men. The independent speech is strong in this section and regardless of previous party affiliations, the electors declare that they will vote for the most capable men. A splendid night meeting was held at Kirkland on Wednesday evening followed by a dance and on the following evening the candidates were given a rousing reception at Congress with a dance after the meeting. Friday was spent at Congress Junction and in the evening Octave was visited. While there are not many voters now in this camp, over two-thirds of it will vote the Republican ticket. The party which consists of ten candidates, will be at Walnut Grove on Monday, at Harrington Tuesday and on Wednesday at Crown King.

MORE STRENUOUS TEST OF WELL TO BE MADE

(From Sunday's Daily.)

So successful has been the experimental testing of the flow of water at the well of the Prescott Water Users' association in this city, that the pumping capacity will be increased to the maximum, beginning probably tomorrow, when it is proposed to bring to the surface a volume of at least thirty gallons per minute from the seven-inch well.

The first practical demonstration of the amount of water contained at a depth of 140 feet, was gratifying, when after twenty-four hours of continuous pumping, over 21,000 gallons were brought to the surface on the basis of 15 gallons per minute. An invitation will be extended the public to witness the first big practical demonstration that all may judge for themselves whether a subterranean stream has been proven to exist.
